Police Nail Sunday Joy Riders and The Machine

Thirty-five Minutes After Auto Is Taken from Front of Local Church the Punishers and Car Are Found

Thirty five minutes after Ben Loring, of Leduc, had reported the disappearance of his automobile from in front of the German Baptist church here last night, the car was recovered and two of the thieves captured, a third being taken into custody later. Three young men who apparently desired a joyride, drove the machine and they will be up in police court this morning facing the serious charge of theft.

Owner was in Church
Mr. Loring drove up from Leduc yesterday afternoon to attend divine service in the German Baptist church on 10th street. He parked his car in front of the church. When he came out shortly after nine o'clock it was gone. He made a fruitless search of the neighborhood and at 10:15 reported it to the police. A short time afterwards it was seen standing in front of a restaurant and three young men came out and proceeded to get into it. Constables O'Brien and Chaffin Meunier of the police department succeeded in capturing two of them, the third being it at top speed. Later in the evening Detective Pollock and Appleby effected the arrest.

Business Men of The Southside to Spread Xmas Cheer

How many know what the letters S. R. B. M. stand for? They stand for well-meaning South Side Business Men's Association—but they don't.

All at one time, boys and girls tonight are going to grin all over their candy-smiled faces and tell the world the S. R. B. M. is a real live brother in Santa's family.

The South Side Business Men's Association tonight will have a big open house for boys and girls right in the middle of 14th street, immediately north of Whyte avenue.

There will be candy, fruit, love an' everything!
ALL FREE.

Santa Claus, big fat and jolly as any picture of him you ever saw, will be on hand at eight o'clock and head out the presents.

The members of the association who have contributed to the big event rather expect a crowd, and have assembled a big lot of gifts to provide for all guests.

The intention is to do as far as possible out a little Christmas joy into the lives and homes of the children who, owing to the economic situation, might not fare as well as the thousands of other girls who have parents and friends are not in a position to load them up with toys and gifts.

WARNING: The tree will be unloaded at 8 o'clock tonight.

MANTOBA BYELECTIONS ARE VITAL TO THE GOVERNMENT

WINNIPEG, Dec. 23.—Two weeks of strenuous campaigning in the provincial constituency of Carlton and Mountain came to a close on Saturday afternoon when the voters will vote in the by-elections caused by the resignation of the late Hon. Albert Praeger and Hon. C. R. Cameron, premier and minister of education, respectively.

SLAYS FILE SELF

NOT SUCH A BAD OLD WORLD, AFTER ALL

Let us observe this thanksgiving season worthily, first by tendering our acknowledgments to the Giver of all good things, and then by endeavoring to carry out His precept of Peace on Earth and Goodwill towards all men.

Here in the west we are builders, and the future of Edmonton depends largely upon the individual contributions of its citizens of today. It is a privilege as well as a task.

In the olden days, the builders, whose work has lasted through the centuries, had always in mind that they were laying the foundations for the future.

It is for us to emulate their single-minded effort, to labor for the benefit of the whole community, and the years to come. With this in mind and with all Edmonton's citizens united in one common effort, we may well be thankful for the present and look forward with hope to the future.

K. A. BLATCHFORD, Mayor.

ATTEMPTS SUICIDE TO AVOID PRISON

WINNIPEG, Dec. 23.—Leonard Hyller, aged 30 years, shot himself under the heart while being escorted to the police station tonight, shortly after he had been released by city police on a charge of passing worthless cheques in Vancouver. He was taken to hospital where his condition was reported fair.

Murderer's Five Month Old Child Sleeps Safely Through Tragedy—Flees Kills Two In Order to Secure Automobile to Use in Quest of Wife and Her Family

COOPER'S MILLS, Maine, Dec. 23.—Christmas happiness has been superseded by tragic sorrow in this little community where today six persons lay dead as the result of the savage lust for murder of a madman Saturday.

In one little cottage lay the bodies of John Snow, who, accused with various crimes, had been in the county jail for five months, and his wife, Mrs. Ella Snow, her aunt, Mrs. Eva Eaton, and her mother, Mrs. Ruth Brown, 80, and then turned his revolver with fatal effect on himself.

In the little home of Deputy Sheriff Frank Jewett, in North Whitfield, ten miles away, by the widow of Mrs. Jewett and her fifteen-year-old son, Kenneth, killed, it was alleged, by Snow before he wreaked havoc in the Coopers' Mills home.

No Flinging Weapons
The county authorities placed together the bodies of John Snow, who, accused with various crimes, had been in the county jail for five months, and his wife, Mrs. Ella Snow, her aunt, Mrs. Eva Eaton, and her mother, Mrs. Ruth Brown, 80, and then turned his revolver with fatal effect on himself.

Altas Triumphed Over Outlaws For Basketball Title

High-Class Game Concluded Y.M.C.A. House League's Activities—
Score Was 20 to 24—Wild Bill Pullarity, Star Performer,
Getting 16 Points—Olesky and Eplin Got Seven Each

In one of the fastest and most closely contested basketball games seen in the city for a long time, the Altas defeated the Outlaws in the play-off game for the championship of the Y.M.C.A. House League at the "Y" gymnasium Saturday night by the score of 29 to 24. It was a battle royal, featured by snappy passing, close checking, and sparkling combination plays by both teams. The Altas fully earned their win because they had greater finishing powers in the vicinity of the baskets. An injury to Al Sparling in the first ten minutes of play weakened the Outlaws to a certain extent, and from the time he left the floor they never seemed to hit the same dizzy clip that had struck while he was in action.

Outlaws Start First

The game started off at a whirlwind pace. Outlaws scored six points from the first for the first five minutes clearly showing that the Altas' speed combined with brilliant passing and the Outlaws were in a fighting spirit and they promised well to end up on the long end of the score. But the early success of the Altas was not as they were concerned with the game. The early success of the Altas was not as they were concerned with the game. The early success of the Altas was not as they were concerned with the game.

Altas Were Cool

The Altas were cool in the second half of the game. They did not show up to advantage for the first five minutes. But when the Altas started to show their true colors, they played methodical, cool and efficient basketball. The Altas played a fine defensive game. They intercepted a hundred dangerous-looking passes and made many well-timed combinations.

Both Teams Bounding into True Form—Winning Red Edge, Winning 3 to 2

The Old, Old Wish.

To all its readers The Bulletin would extend the wish for a full measure of Christmas good cheer, May Santa Claus forget none of them tonight, and may the morning he made glorious and memorable by the kindly sentiments which the day invites.

Time Yet For Those Elections.

There is still ample time in which to hold the by-elections in Clearwater and Grandview early enough to give those constituencies representation at the coming session of the Legislature. Twenty-three days is the minimum time allowed for holding an election. If announced at once the contests could be got over before the date on which the members are likely to be called together. Even allowing an extra week or so for the campaign, the new members could take their seats before the house gets down to the real business of the session. If the voters of these two northern ridings are deprived of representation it will not be because their rights cannot be accorded them, but because these are deliberately suspended by autocratic action of the Government.

Where Autumn Lingers.

We have passed the shortest day of the year, and the mercury at Edmonton has not yet sunk to the zero mark. Alberta is faring quite as well as other provinces of the Dominion and the adjoining States in this phenomenally mild winter. We are not picking quarrels in this part of the Dominion, which seems to have become a popular pastime in Ontario and the New England States. But what is a good sign, more important, our farmers are hustling the last of the bumper crop through the threshing machine. Stock is still running on the range, building and other outdoor occupations are being carried on without hindrance, and the joy-rides are still swarming the streets and country roads. Albertans who spent good money or railway time to California made a bad investment. That sunny state cannot have been providing them any more pleasant weather than their stay-at-home neighbors are enjoying.

By way of pointing the moral it is better to note that the Alberta order of things has not been prevailing everywhere in the continent by any means. Here are a few newspaper headlines published during recent weeks in relation to the climatic conditions elsewhere: "Five dead in blizzard in New Mexico." "Bisbee, Arizona, is paralyzed by fall of snow." "Worst Snow Storm in Twenty Years Hits R.R." "Snow Chills Texas." "Winter grips Southern States." From which it is to be gathered they have been having chilly times down in the coming hell. However, the scientists account for it, the cold weather seems to have struck the sub-tropics this year, while Canada and the northern states are still enjoying early fall at Christmas time.

The 'National' on the Up-Grade

Sir Henry Thornton holds out the hope that in three years the Canadian National may be paying its way, and the taxpayers freed of the burden of an annual deficit. Considering the rate at which the enterprise has lost money in past years that seems to be a somewhat sanguine expectation. To justify it, however, is the substantial improvement that has been made in showing of the system for the present year, and Sir Henry is hardly likely to stake his reputation on a forecast that is unwarranted by careful calculations.

This year the system is likely to show a surplus over the expenses of operating it amounting to eighteen million dollars. Last year the balance to the good was less than three millions. A corresponding increase in the net earnings would accomplish the end and make the enterprise self-sustaining three years hence. It is to be remembered of course that the National has this year the advantage of an almost wholly heavy grain traffic. It may not be equally favored in the future. Still, if the three-year period should be extended to five there will be cause for congratulation that the loss has been stopped in so short a time.

A railway offers large opportunities to lose money, and the larger the system the greater the opportunities. A transcontinental system operating largely in a sparsely settled country and producing a loss of fifty million dollars a year is not to be turned into a self-supporting concern in the twinkling of an eye, nor by the waving of a magician's wand. Shrewd management, aiming particularly to keep down expense and to build up traffic, has got the National started fairly and definitely on the up-grade. That is the important fact. A year or so sooner or later in reaching the top is a minor matter. The taxpayers will not complain if Sir Henry's optimistic forecast is not fulfilled strictly in the matter of time.

Government By Caucus.

The party caucus is an institution as old as democratic government, and likely to last as long. But there are caucuses and caucuses. The caucus in itself is a necessary, and properly used it is an aid and guarantee of stable administration. But it is an expedient that is easily abused, and when it is abused it becomes an agency for destroying the spirit of parliamentary rule. The Greenfield Government has not used the caucus. It has abused it. And in a degree the criticism that it is both autocratic and cowardly.

The Government supporters caucused almost continuously during the spring session of the Legislature. They caucused almost nightly for weeks in order to draw up a ballot to submit to the voters to find out who they wanted the liquor issue dealt with. The ballot was submitted, and the voters answered the questions asked. And now the Government supporters have caucused the last part of a week in caucus trying to decide what the answer means. The conclusion they came to may be right or wrong. That is not the point. Something like two hundred thousand dollars of public money was spent in this kind of a liquor selling system, if any, the public want. And when the voters had answered, the Ministers did not answer. That is the answer meant and refused to stake their places on a guess.

What the Government's liquor policy has been decided behind closed doors. The U.F.A. member is shielded from publicity. His constituents cannot know what views he expressed as to the interpretation that should be placed upon the plebiscite votes. And they never will know, unless he chooses to tell them. When the cut-and-dried measure comes before the Legislature it can be railroaded through by a mute and mechanical majority, and no supporter need tie himself up to any definite responsibility for it. That is a negation of the very principle of representative government. The business of a member of the Legislature is to express the views of his constituents, and the constituents are entitled to know whether he does it or not. The U.F.A. electors do not know where their representatives stand on the liquor question. They are prevented from knowing by the abuse of the party caucus. The province is thus governed by the Legislature. It is governed by the U.F.A. caucus, held of course behind closed doors and with members pledged to secrecy.

ANOTHER BASE CANARD

London dispatches declare that the British Government had the finest collection of fairs in the world, which it intended to place in the hands of the people. The collection was to be a loan canard, and the collection was to be a loan canard.
